The "Iris" – a well-maintained and particularly spacious Veha Euroclassic 46 Trawler, built in 2000 by Veha Motorjachten in Groningen, the Netherlands. This motor yacht offers excellent stability and is perfectly suited for an extended boating season or even permanent living aboard. She is equipped with double glazing, central heating, two spacious cabins, separate shower and toilet facilities, and, of course, a spacious flybridge with a second helm station and a generous aft terrace. The aft deck and saloon are connected on the same level, providing easy access between the two areas. Beneath the aft deck, there is also a spacious storage compartment (lazarette), offering practical storage space for bicycles and other equipment. In addition, the yacht is equipped with a rear-facing camera, providing a clear view behind the vessel, as well as lighting on the aft deck and along the side decks.
The galley is conveniently located close to the seating area and aft deck. It is generously sized and features, among other things, a dishwasher installed in 2026, ample cupboard space and a modern induction cooktop. The yacht is also equipped with an onboard washing machine. The lower helm station is well laid out and also features a convenient side door, providing easy access to the side deck. The Euroclassic 46 has a fuel consumption of approximately 6 litres per hour at a cruising speed of around 8 to 10 km/h. The air draft is approximately 3.45 metres with the mast lowered and approximately 5.45 metres with the mast raised.
For further information and/or to arrange a viewing, you are very welcome to contact Elburg Yachting, seven days a week.
